Alien covenant. Alien ant farm smooth criminal. Alien covenant ending. A classic movie is one that can stand the test of time. Alien does and it still looks stylish, even when it is compared to many movies that have borrowed ideas from it.

What you don't see, scares you more, a premise that is very often attempted but rarely works. Ridley Scott managed to pull this off with style, he got the balance exactly right and the result is terrifying.

Sigourney Weaver was an inspired selection as the now legendary character 'Ripley' probably the first female action hero, certainly the best) and the supporting cast are all more than adequate.

I can't deny that this film has dated a little, but when compared to other Sci Fi/Horror movies of the same era, you really can see how awesome this movie is. An undoubted classic that will terrify audiences for decades to come.

9/10 and they may be a little harsh.

Don't get me wrong. I love this movie. The sheer beauty of the designs - the 'Nostromo' Giger's work on the Alien, the alien ship etc. all adds to the sheer enjoyment of this movie. I saw it with my father in 1980 on the big screen, and several times we almost fell of our seats. It is horrific! Great stuff.

The Point of my summary is this... without the SF-trappings it would function fine as an excellent horror movie - which is exactly what it is! In my book, technology in SF movies should add something intrinsic to the action that is just not possible today - like in 'Bladerunner' with the replicants etc. In 'Alien' this is just not the case.

'Alien' could be a great Brothers Grimm's Tale if you replaced the bad guy with a dragon or some other such monster.

The fun part of this film-series is that the movies are so diverse. a pure horror movie, an action thriller - and a somewhat philosophical thriller. Alas I haven't yet seen #IV, as I got a bit disappointed with #III.

Anyway - a great movie by any standard. Well done indeed Mr. Scott!

Alien hominid. Back in 1979, an innocent, unsuspecting teenage guy went to his local theater to see a new sci fi movie called Alien. Little did he know that he was in for the scare of his had to throw the theater chair I sat in a great movie. Alien covenant soundtrack.
