Great Movie with flamboyant action and a deeply touching, emotional story, characters are very relatable, lot of cathartic moments, CGI that let you forget that it is even there and a really stunning performance of especially the totally underappreciated Rosa Salazar and the rest of the outstanding cast.

Flaws are outweighed by the freshness and the strengths of the movie, therefore 10 stars ! Alita has the freedom to be treated as a great character and not as a vehicle for a political statement. A huge leap forward in any instance. She is a great, strong, relatable, female character.

A universal human experience !

Thoughtfully planned, thoroughly executed, beautifully crafted.

Jim Cameron and Robert Rodriguez really raised the bar with this movie.

I just want to say that I had an absolute blast watching this movie. Probably one of the most enjoyable movies I've ever watched alongside some of the masterfully crafted Marvel movies.

The movie itself has some of the most stunning visuals I've ever seen with some of the most amazing CGI ever created which helps create this amazing world where the story of a cyborg girl called Alita takes place.

The acting is for the most part great and I was continually blown away by how good and satisfying the choreography in the many fight scenes were. Every punch or kick that is received feels like it has some weight to it.

In my opinion the story was great and had a good pacing. Of course, not everything was perfect but I truly feel that everything that's so good about this movie covers up the little were it preforms worse.

Before watching the film I had no knowledge of the manga and had never heard about it before. I went in with low expectations and absolutely enjoyed every second of it. Solid watch, would recommend to everyone. Really hopes it gets a sequel.
