Not only bacause it portrayed Dhaka in a wrong way, there was no story in depth, nothing thrilling, all we get to see some marvelous action stunt scenes in all over the slums in Dhaka which doesn't make any sense. No humors, nothing special and estreme yellow effects killed the least of emotions. And wherever they tried to show in Dhaka couldn't connect its audience bacause Dhaka is not like that at all. Dhaka is a megacity, its not a beautiful city but It's not a slum at all. They didn't shoot the movie in Dhaka so nothing match its actual environment. Their accents didn't match and Indian music in every home and child with shotguns also very unfamiliar in Dhaka. So what is the point of using a name of a different city from a different country when you are not able to connect even not the language. The only thing I love in the full movie is Chris

Hemsworth and Randeep Huda's acting. They did their parts very well.
