Importances Guest Posting Opportunities

Paid Guest Posts is a great way to build your brand, get more traffic and backlinks. But the best part about guest posting is that it doesn't cost much!

Here are 5 reasons why you should be guest posting:

You'll get more social shares

You'll get more links from other sites (e.g., blogs)

More traffic from your website/blog will contribute to your SEO efforts since these people will only have one destination for their content consumption which is yours!

How to Find High-Quality Guest Post Sites

If you're looking for high-quality guest post sites, a great place to start is Google Search. You can use the following search terms in the search box:

- "guest post" OR "guest writer" OR "writing services."
- "SEO." This will bring up websites that offer SEO Guest Posting Service or articles on SEO topics.

If you don't see anything relevant, try using Scholar as well: Scholar looks at citations and online publications for research papers that are related to your topic area for example.

Pitching Guest Post Ideas

- Use a conversational tone.
- Use a personal voice.
- Use a friendly name and email address for your guest post author, not just the name of the article itself (e.g., “I wrote this article about SEO”).
- Your URL should be short and easy to remember (think 10 characters or less), since it will be part of Google’s indexing algorithm that helps determine how high you rank in search results pages; this allows them to display relevant content more prominently when users click on it!

Paid Guest Posts vs Organic Guest Posts

You can use this strategy as an opportunity for organic traffic but it won't work if there are no customers looking for what you have available! To make this strategy work properly, it's important that people know about the product.

If they don't like what they see when they arrive at the page where these types of posts appear then chances are good that most visitors will leave immediately without even reading any further content until something catches.
