Watch Full Mad Max: Fury road show. Having anticipated this movie ever since the first trailer, having seen this movie as soon as it came out in theaters and having bought it on bluray as soon as it was possible, I can say without a doubt that this movie is great. True, I am not a connoisseur of the original Mad Max movies, but that doesn't mean I don't know a good movie when I see one. Fury Road is definitely not all action and explosions! Though they are present from start to finish) the movie also has it's serene and meaningful moments. These are always accompanied by stunning visuals and amazing cinematography. What's almost more impressive than the film itself (almost) is the making of it, with all cars and explosions being practical and the concept art reaching back 10 years. Truly a masterpiece, infused with metaphors, representations of industry, war cult and economy, all set in front of a beautifully designed backdrop.

I wasn't sold on the movie from the trailers but I had a couple of friends that said they loved it so I decided to give it a shot I went with an objective viewpoint that way I could give it as much credit as possible. The best part about the movie is the lack of cgi which I do give them credit for but the story line was horrible and it was not stop action. They probably could have made this really good but they feel way short on that. I think if they had put more time into the story and less into the action it would have been good and I like action movies. I'm glad I went to the matinee showing because this will not be one I watch again I just want my two hours back.
