

Resonance: The Art of the Choral Music Educator

by Dr. Christopher W. Peterson is a new collegiate choral methods textbook written specifically for today's emerging music teachers, guiding their growth as curious students while enriching their passion for changing lives through music. Practicing educators may want to use these resources and refer back to this book throughout their professional career.

- Becoming a Professional Educator
- Career Paths in Music Education
- Teaching for Transfer
- Managing the Choral Classroom
- Lesson Planning
- Rehearsing the Choir
- Developing Musicianship within the Choral Rehearsal
- Materials for the Choral Music Educator
- Gender Identity in Choral Music Education
- Recruiting for the Successful Choral Program
- Assessment Strategies for the Music Classroom
- And much more....

Pavane Publishing Catalog No. P5029
Hal Leonard Catalog No. 00365359
ISBN 978-1-950736-01-0

CHRISTOPHER W. PETERSON is Professor of Choral Music Education at California State University, Fullerton and is a teacher, conductor, choral clinician, author, editor, composer, and choral arranger of music and books published in the United States and around the world. In his over thirty years as a music educator Dr. Peterson has taught in elementary, middle school, high school, church, community, festival, and collegiate settings.

Distributed by
Hal Leonard

HAL • LEONARD®

Order TODAY from your favorite music retailer.

See sample pages online: pavanepublishing.com/resonance