

Scooby-Doo is the hero of his own story in "SCOOB!," the first full-length, theatrical animated Scooby-Doo adventure, which reveals how he and his best friend Shaggy became two of the world's most beloved crime busters. The story takes us back to where it all began, when a young Scooby and Shaggy first meet, and team up with Velma, Daphne, and Fred to launch Mystery Incorporated. Written by: Derek Elliott. First of all, the animation was excellent with enough details to make it look huge at times and enough stylised characters to avoid being uncanny. But sadly, that's the most positive thing I have to say about it, because even though I consider it to be better than the live-action movies from the early '00's, it just isn't good enough to be more than mediocre for different reasons but one in particular:

The corporate footprint is enormous! This is most obvious in the cast which is all a-list celebrities even though the usual voice-cast for the many earlier and ongoing iterations of the beloved gang is still available, but I guess they weren't popular enough.

It's also a superhero themed movie and a supposed start of a Hanna-Barbera cinematic universe. Superheroes are huge, cinematic universes are a big trend and the MCU is huge. These considerations make it feel more like a product of statistics and market analysis than its own thing.

For the kids it might be fun and I'd be lying if I said that I didn't enjoy at least some parts of the movie like the villain and his good humour and sympathetic motivations, and I think the set-up for an HB cinematic universe was surprisingly well done considering all the cameos there were in the movie.

Lower your expectations, because even if "Scoob!" isn't terrible, it's pretty generic and bares a big corporate mark.

The emergence of streaming media has caused the fall of many DVD rental companies such as Blockbuster. In July 2019, an article from the New York Times published an article about Netflix DVD, No Manches Frida 2s. It was stated that Netflix was continuing their DVD No. No Frida 2s with 5.3 million customers, which was a significant decrease from the previous year. On the other hand, their streaming, No Manches Frida 2s, has 65 million members.
