"Stage presence and emphasis was a big light bulb moment for me. Where to stand on the stage, how to emphasise what you are saying or change where you want your audience's attention to go...

I recommend Amanda to professionals wanting to improve their public speaking and video presence. She has made me a more confident speaker and made my stage presence greater."

BIO

I translate the actors and director's skillset (my background for 20 years) to corporate leaders, business owners, and speakers teaching strategic and effective public speaking, video, and presence. Success requires the ability to influence so I teach how to overcome fears and imposter syndrome, represent a company professionally, and confidently excel in the authority of an influential leader.

At Rewards Drama we focus not only on stagecraft, voice, body, and on camera work, but also on the importance and power of our own voice.

I reside in Melbourne, Australia and I train, consult, and speak online and in person.
