This movie gets inside your head with Lecter's thought-provoking words that show us the dark side of the human psyche, the clever, calm side of a true monster who knows his victims on a deep level before he consumes more than their words.

Silence of the Lambs is an absolute classic movie that follows an intelligent cannibal named Doctor Lecter who has been locked away in a small, isolated cell for his crimes, but his skills as a psychiatric doctor and unique criminal profiling knowledge are sought out by the FBI for help catching a dangerous killer who is on the loose. They send trainee agent Clarice Starling to interview Lecter, who takes a liking to her and agrees to help the FBI while taking full advantage of his relationship with the agent by probing her mind and learning all there is to know about her using his intelligence and manipulative ways.

Anthony Hopkins and Jodie Foster are perfect in their roles, taking the characters from the book by the same name and bringing them to life. Hopkins' presence on screen is terrific and terrifying, so much so that Hopkins and Foster didn't talk on or off set while filming as she found him "scary," which only makes their on-screen relationship much more real and intense.

I recommend this movie to anyone who enjoys a movie with a great story that keeps you on the edge of your seat, guessing what will happen next and how it will end. This movie is a classic for a reason; give it a watch if you haven't already seen it before.

The film is the best! I don't care what anyone says about it! The setting is good, and I love the garage scene where Jodie finds a. in a. I loved Anthony Hopkins as that deranged cannibal! That Brooke Smith should have won a best supporting actress award. It is dark, moody, and a great film! If you have not seen it, you must or I'll find you! See it and you won't regret it! No go rent it and prosper!
